This comprehensive handbook provides a unique resource covering all aspects of forest ecology from a global perspective. It covers both natural and managed forests from all regions and climates of the world. The book is divided into seven parts, each with an editorial introduction, addressing the following themes: forest types; forest dynamics; flora and fauna; energy and nutrients; conservation and management; climate change; and human impacts on forest ecology. With contributions from leading authorities, the book provides an essential reference text for a wide range of students of ecology, environmental science, forestry, geography and natural resource management.
